

Nature Boy

Named before the syrupy song, I think, guy running roads around West Chester, Pennsylvania in a sort of diaper. In his 70s by then, best guess.

Lived with sister--harking back, I, to news item when he, as those owning all ranks & regimens, cashes in.

Elvis impersonator hereabouts lives with his mother. Better for most to dwell with someone, regardless of prattle from those knowing better about everything-- many of these so thoroughly alone it fulfills prescription for dank existentialism.
